

Collectible Card Game, Tarot Style

I. Defense

Sun in flames from pair of hands, while music makes chorus to stand in trees in sky true crystal that sparks gold lightning to keep the forms that stop your will now fully at bay, since they no longer turn nor bellow nor halt, so relax a full moment as ginger of time becomes free and protected, and yours.

II. Dark

Moon with white so sharp like sword of platinum and steel and snow and yet that moon can suddenly wink or hide and cause its glow a lovely end to bring dark and dark as big as nations, a blanket of black and likely so long there's time for tea in a dim sort of palette, or maybe just a well-heated scone, with honey.

III. Invisible

Dawn dust in hand; the move from shore to goal is easier now, a time to cross the kingdom border and find success on far other sides while of course never showing who you are who you'll be whomever you've been, while today you mark all woods and bushes and major roads in shadows that well strictly fold.
